No Whiskey!

Brown's Iron Bitters is one of the very few tonic medicines that are not composed mostly of alcohol or whiskey, thus becoming a fruitful source of intemperance by promoting a desire for rum.

Brown's Iron Bitters is guaranteed to be a nonintoxicating stimulant, and it will, in nearly every case, take the place of all liquor, and at the same time absolutely kill the desire for whiskey and other intoxicating beverages.

Rev. G. W. RICE, editor of the American Christian Review, says of Brown's Iron

Cin., O., Nov. 16, 1881. Gents:—The foolish wast-ing of vital force in business, pleasure, and vicious indul-gence of our people, makes and if applied, will save hundreds who resort to saloons for temporary recuperation.

Brown's Iron BITTERS has been thoroughly tested for dyspepsia, indigestion, biliousness, weakness, debility, overwork, rheumatism, neuralgia, consumption, liver complaints, kidney troubles, &c., and it never fails to render speedy and permanent relief.

Vue de L'Oistre-et-Terrapene. A recent number of the Rechabite, a temperance journal of Washington contains the following:

There is a beautiful romantic spot eighty miles down the Potomac, just where the lovely Patrick Creek meanders through its silky lacework of cat-tails and alkaline marshes, and mingles with the historical Potomac as it wends its way to the sea. To the brave navigators and cruisers on the tempestuous Chesapeake and its tributaries this sweet spot is known as Honey Point. Admiral Ellis has long had his weather eye on this more than Coney Island of the Potomac, and has now about purchased it. There are about 892 acres in the tract; the original title of which is from King Potowmack to William the Conqueror, and from him to Patrick, whom the creck is named after, and from Patrick to a Prince of the house of Michydocks, and from thence down to the present time the title is as clear as the water of the many cold crystal-like springs with which it abounds. The plantation has a water front of over two miles, in which, this fall, the Admiral intends placing as a small beginning 5,000 bushels of young oysters. There is also a fine salt water lake on the place, covering over 150 acres of ground. The Admiral intends using this as a terrapin pond, and will raise terrapins for the Paris and London markets exclusively. The Admiral does not intend obliterating any of the old landmarks on the place. Among them we note a birch wigwam erected over three hundred years ago by one of the pow-erful Kings of the Michydocks, who captur-ed the place from the brave but unfortunate Nominis and Anacostias; the last of whom were slaughtered in a desperate battle fought on this tract. The dead of these CEASIDE LIBRARY ISSUES, at FRENCH'S, 93 | two unfortunate tribes literally lay piled in heaps, and one of those heaps now forms a beautiful mound near where the Admiral's mansion will be built. From this mound a magnificent view can be had of of the Atlantic Ocean, Chesapeake Bay, Potomac

River, Washington's Monument, &c., &c.
The Admiral will at once commence the erection of a palatial residence on this terrestrial paradise, and Bro. Mark Norris, of Potomac Tent, has been secured as constructing engineer and general superintendent. The building will be of Richmond granite with Corintho-Ionian columns of beautiful fresceed Tennessee marble with cappings of Prince William redstone and Ohio procelain. The design will be after the Hudson river mansions of Samuel J. Tilden, Jay Gould and James Gordon Bennett, which the Admiral inspected and admired during his late summer excursion north.

There will be a very high centre tower, with beautiful and cool balconial attachments on top, from which a clear and splendid view can be had for miles. It is here that the Admiral and his good lady intend to sit in the calm and pleasant evenings of their declining years, and watch the antics of the spotive oysters, and the Admiral will play on his favorite instrument (the accordeon,) accompaniments to the enchanting warbling of the melodious terrapins; from this fact, from this blessed anticipated delicious pleasure, has the Admiral named the place 'Vue de L'Oistre-et-terrapene,' (Vieu of the Oyster and terrapin. A room will be specially fitted up in the house, with the latest improved burglar proof safes, as the Treasurer's office of the Independent Order of Rechabites with telephonic and telegraphic attachments for everywhere, and a swift, daisy-like steam yacht at the wharf always ready. In conclusion we are happy to state that the Admiral has recured Bro. Emmett Smith, (late H. C.S.) as his private secretary. A good appointment and one that we feel will give satisfaction to every Rechabite from the poles to the tropics, and from the sable mines of Pennsylvania, to the brighter mines of California. [The proprietor of this mundanc elysium—rivaling Mount Olympus in everything save the nectar—and casting such a shadow upon Babylon's famous paradise of hanging gardens, &c., is a resident of this city and a son-in-law of the late J. T. Evans.

A PRECIOUS STONE FOUND IN GEORGIA.-Near Noreross there resides an old German goologist who loves to live among the peculiar specimens of mineral and vegetable matter which he has unearthed and housed. He is an elderly gentleman of little sociability, but of great mental acquirements. His physical endurance is simply astonishing. For days at a time he wanders over the hills and through the dales near his home, collecting rocks and stones, limbs and roots, the proper-ties and qualities of which are unknown to all but The room in which his collection is is wonderful. In one receptacle are arranged a number of stones whose bright rays remind the ob-server of diamonds. In the centre of this long room there rests a stone half the size of a hen egg, which was picked up by the owner months and months ago. It was covered in many places with thick, heavy clay, which was removed with great care. It was found to be exceedingly hard, and whenever struck with a hard substance gave forth but little sound. It was almost colorless with now and then a tinge of green. Its form was that of an octahedron, but some of the faces or sides were inclined to be convex, while the edges were curved. It was subjected to acids and alkalies without experiencing any perceptible hange. Some friends induced him to the market, and only a day or two ago he received a letter from a diamond dealer in New York offer ing him $46,000 for it .- Atlanta Constitution.
